

What's your garden style?

Materials

Wood

Wooden garden furniture is designed for strength and durability and is a classic choice, suiting most garden styles. Wood is relatively low maintenance, but it's essential to treat each summer to protect against water damage and warping.

Rattan

Rattan garden furniture is lightweight, weather resistant and requires minimal maintenance. The synthetic weaved material can be wiped clean and kept outdoors all year round. Rattan suits the modern aesthetic, with straight edged and curved designs and glass topped tables.

Metal

Metal furniture is durable, hardwearing and low maintenance due to rust-resistant finishes. Metal garden sets allow you to create a classic look in your outdoor space, made contemporary with gorgeous ornate detailing and metallic finishes.

Take the quiz

How will you spend the majority of your time outdoors?

Relaxing

Entertaining

How green-fingered are you?

Fun in the garden with the family or hosting a garden party for friends?

Enthusiast – I'm an avid gardener

Minimalist – I cut the grass

Garden party For grown ups

Fun with The family

Are you able to store your garden furniture during the winter months?

Planting in garden beds or vertical planters and hanging pots?

No, it remains outdoors

Yes

What's your must-have garden accessory?

Cultivating a larger outdoor space

Savvy small space gardening

Small & compact

Room to room

A built in BBQ

A grand gazebo

Rustic garden

You don't need to be in the countryside, or own a cottage to have a rural and rustic garden. Don't be afraid to plant a variety of wild flowers and let your garden flourish. Complement the informal aesthetic with classic wooden furniture, such as a relaxing swing seat or a traditional bench. For extra antique appeal, opt for an ornate metal dining set and finish the look with a stone birdbath or water feature.

Urban garden

The beauty of urban gardens comes from making the most of the outdoor space available. You can opt for a modern or a rustic style, just make sure you don't make your small space feel cramped by choosing outdoor furniture that's too big. Dine in style with elegant bistro sets, compact BBQ tables and two-seater dining sets. You can still enjoy gardening, making your urban space green with cleverly placed hanging baskets and vertical planters.

Modern garden

If you're a minimalist gardener creating a tranquil haven to relax in this summer, a modern garden complete with a rattan furniture set would be ideal. Add a protective parasol complete with granite base for a luxe look. Sleek shapes, clean lines and lavish textures are popular themes in modern gardens. Use decking to add eye-catching levels and square plant boxes for symmetry. Don't forget the all-important built in BBQ for alfresco dining!

Family garden

An extendable garden dining table is a must, so the whole family can dine alfresco this summer. Indulge in hours of fun in the sun, then store away the cushions and garden games in a stylish storage box when the sun sets. Gazebos provide protection from the sun and double up as a garden den. Keep little gardeners happy by planting sunflowers. They'll love watching them shooting skywards, and seeing whose is the tallest.

